POLITICAL PARADE

By CLEM WHITAKER

How big is Uncle Sam?

Too big, according to congressional investigators, and when Congress reconvenes in November, you can expect quite an explosion on the subject.

The old gentleman is eating up everything in sight, it seems, and is getting fat at the expense of his nephews and nieces, the states and counties—some of which are about to expire from malnutrition.

California and Arizona, incidentally, are two of the states which are feeling the pangs of tax-hunger because of Uncle Sam's abnormal appetite for public lands.

More than 76 per cent of the state of Arizona is owned outright by the Federal Government, according to Congressman J. Hardin Peterson of Florida, chairman of the House Committee on Public Lands.

And 49 per cent of California is owned either by the state or the Federal Government, with the result that county tax sources have dried up alarmingly.

Congressman Peterson, whose committee is now in California, reports that its purposes are four-fold: 1.—To inventory all public lands. 2.—To devise legislation aimed at stopping Federalization. 3.—To find means of reimbursing counties for money taken from tax rolls by Federal land acquisition. 4.—To enlarge the country's home-stead policy.

Already arranged with the National Park Service, declares Congressman Peterson, is a program for the remittance of part of the fees paid by tourists to counties in which national parks are located, and it is also planned to give counties part of grazing fees.

Congressman Alfred J. Elliott of Tulare has been appointed by Peterson as chairman of a sub-committee to hold public hearings in California—and Mr. Elliott has announced that his committee will meet in San Francisco Sept. 10-11 to get all possible data on local tax problems growing out of the drift toward Federalization.

"Even in the stress of war," asserts Elliott, "we cannot overlook preservation of local government, and I hope that the hearings will be well attended by taxpayers and local officials who can supply us with information that will be valuable in our fight in Washington for corrective legislation."

Other hearings by the Elliott sub-committee either have been held or will be held shortly in San Diego, Los Angeles, Bakersfield and Sacramento, and Mr. Elliott will confer with county assessors from all over the state, as well as tax officials of the State Board of Equalization,

Kiwanians Hear Interesting Talk On Soviet Russia

Dr. Ralph Fields, assistant superintendent of schools in San Jose, spoke to the Kiwanis club here Tuesday, choosing as his subject, "Russia" or more correctly the "Union of Socialist Soviet Republics."

He stated that three factors have tended to make Russia strong, namely, a strong leadership since their revolution; an importation of engineers and skilled workers to help rebuild Russia; and the people are firmly united.

Following the talk an open forum was held with the members discussing the general topic of Russia.

R. E. Noddin was the day's chairman. Joe McKinnon and Maurice Moore were visiting members.

"The Dough Girls," which has been turning away audiences from the Geary theater, San Francisco, for over two months, plays a single performance in the civic auditorium, San Jose, on Sunday evening, Sept. 10.

This "nation's No. 1 comedy smash" is still running in New York and Chicago, and the company now playing on the Pacific coast is rated equally excellent with the New York company.

Tickets for the mad, merry "Dough Girls" are on sale at the auditorium box office, Columbia 7097.

Teach Children Safety Rules

One third of all death of school-age children are caused by traffic accident, reports the Public Safety Department of National Automobile club.

Children should be taught how to avoid traffic accidents before they start back to school. Help them to realize they should never cross the street without looking both ways; never cross when the stop light is red, and even then only at the corner. They should not play in the streets, and should learn to obey school patrols as well as traffic officers.

Two tickets to the Campbell Theater are awaiting Mr. and Mrs. M. C. Thiehoff. Call within a week at Press office.

LABOR DAY

Labor Day, 1943, will have a deeper meaning to Americans. Today, the whole country is labor conscious — conscious that it has done a great job, and that it has yet a greater job to do.

Not a flag-waving, speech-making day will it be. Main Street will not resound to the marching feet of men in overalls. Rather, our industrial army will march to the mines and the mills, the shops and the shipyards to hum the hymn of victory—work—work—work.

Not only has the brawn but the brains of American labor, been very much in evidence during the past year. Countless man hours have been saved by the short-cut, work-saving ideas conceived by the men on the job.

Ten planes an hour—five ships a day—that's the approximate pace our production has attained. Still, we must do better, build faster, faster. Mounting victories on the battlefronts brings mounting needs for equipment. But the accomplishments of American labor have already spoken eloquently in the only language the Axis addle-brains can understand — the language spoken by the whine of shells and the roar of exploding bombs.

The ranks of labor have swollen to the unprecedented figure of 54 million — including 16 million women—and this, in spite of the large withdrawal of men for the armed forces.

Today labor is not only striving to turn out the weapons of victory, but it is keeping an eye on what lies beyond "V" day. Labor recognizes that its continued prosperity is inseparably bound up with the freedom of private enterprise, rather than in made-work of the government. Labor demands—and deserves—genuine jobs in the post-war era. And these jobs will be available as labor, capital, and government cooperate—each in its proper sphere.

On Labor Day, Sept. 6, we salute the men and women of our industrial army. They are good soldiers who are fighting a good fight.

FARMERS AND THE FUTURE

How is the farmer doing financially under the great wartime demand for farm products? The United States Department of Agriculture wanted to find out, so they contacted many farmers all over the Nation. Result: They found farmers, as a whole, experiencing their greatest prosperity in more than two decades.

It is estimated that gross farm income for last year exceeded $18½ billion — more than $2 billion above the previous high of 1918. And indications are that it will go higher in 1943.

The significant point in the survey is this: Farmers are not over-expanding their acreage as they did in the boom of World War I. Rather they are paying off their mortgages and putting their excess funds in War Bonds and savings accounts. Nearly all delinquent Federal Land Bank loans have been paid.

The American farmer is not going to make the same mistake twice. He has learned that he can make his own individual post-war plans. The rise in the volume of War Bond sales indicate that the farmers in this state, whose share in the national farm income was well over $1 billion in 1942, are keeping an eye to the future.

So when nations again "beat their swords into ploughshares" America's men of the soil will be prepared for whatever comes.

FOUR YEARS OF WAR

Four years have passed since that fateful Sept. 1 of 1939, when Adolf Schickelgruber, the Austrian house painter, threw aside his "peace mask" and poured an avalanche of men and metal into Poland. And for the second time in a generation, the lights again went out over Europe.

The conquest was bloody and brutal, but quick—amazingly. It revealed a new German military machine, whose efficiency and equipment immediately outmoded warfare as it had been known up to that time.

Then followed months of idleness—waiting. "Phony war" was the name given it. Hitler seemed unwilling to move out from behind his Siegfried Line, and France and England were unable to carry the war to him. Then came May of 1940, the rape of the Low Countries, the crushing of France—Dunkirk.

In less than a year the Nazis had mastered Western Europe, had almost won the war—almost. But "almost" blesses and curses history. Twenty miles across the Channel lay the white cliffs of Dover. The "master race" never got there.

Four years—four centuries to some within Hitler's "fortress." The darkness is not yet past. But time is running out and the finger tips of a new day of hope are stealing over the horizon.

In the light of this new day let us learn that there is never any ceasing in our warfare against hate, intolerance and greed. Let us be good soldiers in peace, then war can never again return to plague us.

FIRE PREVENTION

Rising out of the good earth of the great Western Empire are the tall trees that throng the slopes and valleys. They are the handiwork of Nature representing the patient growth of tens and scores and hundreds of years. They are a rich heritage of beauty—a great source of wealth.

This year, more than ever, we must guard and protect these forests from the enemy within—fire. As summer mellows into fall the need for alertness becomes increasingly important. Those who live near forest areas should be especially watchful against fire in their own homes, for these often result in conflagrations that spread over hundreds of acres.

A careless match can do as much damage as a fleet of enemy bombers. Our forests need not be "seared and scarred and blackened." Our care and vigilance can help to protect their majestic beauty.

BOOTS! BOOTS! BOOTS!

When the American troops arrived on the dismal shores of Kiska to "call on" their "honorable" Japanese opponents, they found that the lads from the Land of the Rising Sun had checked out—without leaving a forwarding address.

Apparently their departure had been a bit hurried for they hadn't taken all their luggage. Left behind were some boots—first-class, unused, ready-to-wear rubber boots—piled to the rafters of the small warehouse on the island. But our men can't wear them—they're not big enough. You see, Jap soldiers are small physically—as well as mentally!

SALVAGE MORE FAT

One tableshoonful of waste household fats saved every day by each of Santa Clara county's 54,671 families during the second year of the WPB fat salvage campaign would provide enough glycerin to make 2,624,208 anti-aircraft shells, it was estimated.

Indications are that nationwide results of the campaign's initial year, ending the first week in July, totaled more than 65,000,000 pounds of household fats, based on OWI reports for the first 11 months. This is one-third of the annual quota for the nation of 200 million pounds. California is asked by the government to salvage 1,230,500 pounds of fats each month.

Copper increase
 Increased output of copper in the other Americas, normally the world's largest exporters of the metal, has contributed to the rising war production of the U. S. Chile, chief producer of copper, has raised production to 465,000 tons from 339,000 tons. Other hemisphere copper producers are Mexico, Peru, Cuba and Bolivia.

Busy Beavers
 Dams built by beavers depend upon the topography, the depth of water, the distance between banks and the availability of construction material. All members of a beaver colony aid in repairing dams. Even the kits take a hand in the work. Males are first to attempt repairs, but when they fail, every member of the colony takes a hand.

MINERS' PAY

The War Labor Board refused to approve John L. Lewis' contract with Illinois coal mine operators for $1.25 extra per day for portal-to-portal pay. The miners, however, will get an increase anyway by working eight, instead of seven hours daily — time and a half to be paid for the eighth hour. This marks the second failure of the United Mine Workers' chief to get the WLB's sanction on the port-to-portal issue.

AMERICAN HEROES

BY LEFF

Heavy Jap Naval bombardment of our forces on a Pacific island destroyed our communications. Then Marine Corporal George J. Conlon went out to help lay a telephone trunk line between headquarters, the base radio and other strategic points. Caught in the open, he kept on working throughout five bombing attacks, and vital communications were restored. He won the Silver Star. ## GOVERNOR WARREN LAUDS USO; URGES WAR CHEST SUPPORT

Corporal Morris Breslow of Brooklyn, New York, finds tough competition in Governor Earl Warren as they vie for "Skittles" honors at the miniature two-way alley in a San Francisco USO Club. Honorary President of the California War Chest, Governor Warren visited the club with Ralph T. Fisher of Oakland, president, to get a first-hand picture of USO as one of the 17 chest-affiliated agencies. Local communities throughout California will conduct their own War Chest drives for war and home front needs during October and November.

SAN FRANCISCO, CALIFORNIA—Governor Earl Warren, after a tour of San Francisco USO clubs, reports that he is deeply impressed with the work carried on by the beneficiary organizations of the California War Chest, statewide fund which unites 17 war relief appeals in one concerted drive.

Honorary President of the State Chest, Governor Warren has wholeheartedly endorsed the combined campaign and the affiliated national agencies which it represents. The State appeal for war and "home front" relief funds will be conducted within every California community during October and November. Local community and war chests will direct the campaign in cities and towns where chests exist.

Urging support of the campaign by every citizen of the State, the Governor points to USO activities as illustrative of the work conducted by chest member agencies: "As I travel around the State and see the thousands of boys in our armed forces who are training here and who are passing through California, I am more convinced than ever of the value of USO", he declared. "There could be no finer place for our boys in uniform to spend their time."

More than half the total funds raised through the California War Chest will go to services for America's armed forces. United Nations relief agencies included in the chest are: Russian War Relief, United China Relief, British War Relief Society, Greek War Relief Association, Polish War Relief, French Relief Fund, United Yugoslav Relief Fund, Belgian War Relief Society, United Czechoslovak Relief Fund, Queen Wilhelmina Fund, Norwegian Relief Fund, Friends of Luxembourg, Refugee Relief Trustees, and the U. S. Committee for the Care of European Children.

Budgets of Community Chests, together with the needs of these war agencies, will total approximately $250,000,000 to be raised through local community and war chests throughout the nation.

THE BOOK MARK

by marty

For variety's sake, this week, let's talk about several books instead of the one, which is reviewed each issue of this paper. As space is limited, but a few remarks will be allotted to each book. Nevertheless those few remarks, we hope, will give you an idea of what is in store for you within the binding of each.

Margaret Buehl Wilder's "Since You Went Away" is a volume of letters to a soldier from his wife. From this book we learn emphatically that courage, coupled with a sense of humor, wins wars on the battle front of the home. Tim, the author's husband, who has gone to war, is never really away from home. Anne talks to him, tells him all the happenings of home, business, the children's joys and efforts, in her daily letters to her soldier husband. In this book you will find hilarious fun, humor and rich philosophy.

Robert Nathan's "But Gently Day" is another whimsical triumph for the author. This time Mr. Nathan's theme is the people who fight our wars embodied in one Corporal Henry Arkbester, U. S. Army Air Force. The Corporal is going home on a ten day furlough, and the substance of the book is his findings, physical as well as spiritual, upon reaching his destination.

Louise Randall Pierson has written her autobiography and she has titled the completed efforts "Roughly Speaking." At the turn of the century the Randall fortune was a myth, as it were, their entire possessions having vanished with the death of the author's father, who had a very bad habit of "indorsing notes." Socially, economically, spiritually and above all humorously, Mrs. Pierson has climbed up and down the ladder but eventually managed to reach the top of the incline after once having descended. "When I came to check my checkered career against all the trends from 1890 to today, I found that all along I was doing whatever the American of the day was doing. The only thing I didn't do was gargle with Listerine and play miniature golf." Here is a book full of laughter and good and genuine American pride.

But briefly we will mention the last book on the list, and with a promise to review it for you at length next week let us say that Bradford Smith's "The Arms Are Fair" shows signs of greatness, both in choice of subject and technique in handling a subject matter which, by the way, is the thoughtful activities of a Japanese soldier's heart and mind.

Put Your Payroll Savings on a Family Basis Make 10 per cent Just a Starting Point

Bomb Targets

Throughout the country there are thousands of war plants, marvels of efficiency and economy, yet so constructed that they are now easy targets for enemy bombers. With a little intensive training, scores of camouflage artists will be turned out in each area, who will effectively hide American industries and airports from the eyes of enemy bombardiers.

Evangelist Holds Services Here All This Week

Evangelist Hans F. Bretschneider is conducting services at the Assemblies of God church in the I. O. O. F. hall every evening at 7:45.

He will conduct his regular Divine Healing service Saturday night and on Sunday his sermon topics will be "The Bride of Christ" in the morning and "God's Final Call" in the evening.

Evangelist Bretschneider is nationally known and has held services in many of the larger cities.

Pastor and Mrs. Herbert Johnson extend an invitation to these meetings.

Jellies Help Morale

Although there is no proof that an apple a day keeps the doctor away, England reports that apple jellies, jams, butters and preserves have been found to maintain morale so that workers can work more and are better able to withstand air raids.

Two tickets to the Campbell Theater are awaiting Mr. and Mrs. Worthin Grattan. Call within a week at Press office.

Mrs. Evans Writes From New York

Former Campbellites are still very much interested in their home town as evidenced in a letter received by the Editor from Mrs. Harry D. Evans requesting a subscription to the Campbell Press.

Quoting from her letter dated at Sampson, N. Y., August 28:

My dear Mrs. Smith:

We received some copies of the Campbell Press last week and they made us homesick. It was so good to hear about Campbell and our many friends there. For some time we have wanted to receive the Press but not knowing how long we would be here we decided not to take it; but now we find we cannot do without it.

We like it here but it is quite lonely as there is no place to go other than Geneva which is sixteen miles away and it is a small place. Harry has charge of a large galley feeding 5600 men; men who attend the Commissary Schools. In the housing area there are as many people living here as there are in Campbell. Our houses are all built like barracks, six in a row. They are quite comfortable when furnished. Some are three, four and five rooms; there are no side walks only gravel driveways. We are about a half mile from Seneca Lake, Harry goes fishing on it but never has any luck. It is pretty here but the weather is terrible, always raining.

No doubt you know Harry, Jr. came over here to visit us last March and we were surprised to see him. Now he is somewhere in Alaska.

Sincerely

Jean and Harry Evans

Out of the Mouths of Babes, Etc.

By IRVIN S. COBB

ONE day just before last Christmas little Babs Rinehart, the grandchild of George M. Doran, the publisher, and also grandchild of the famous Mary Roberts Rinehart, was taking an automobile ride with Mrs. Doran. On their way they passed by a large orphan asylum. "That is the place where little boys and girls live who haven't any fathers and mothers," said Mrs. Doran to Babs. "Would you like to go some day and see them and take them something nice for their Christmas?"

Babs looked hard at the building.

"Yes, I'd like to do that," she said.

"What would you like to take them?" asked Mrs. Doran.

Babs thought for a moment. Then she said:

"I think I'd like to take them some fathers and mothers."

Any contributions of old silk or nylon hose must be left at stores collecting them by Sept. 10 as the war department has notified that shipments must reach New York by Oct. 1. Old silk and nylon hosiery are used in making parachutes and gunpowder bags.

Strong Railroads Seen As Post-War National Bulwark

If the railroads are soundly positioned financially after the war, they should continue to be a bulwark to the prosperity of the country, in the opinion of A.T. Mercier, president of the Southern Pacific company.

Financially strong railroads serve the nation, he says, not only by providing efficient and economical mass transportation, which is a first essential of business and industry, but also by turning purchasing power into channels of trade through vast sums paid in wages to railroad employes and, additionally, through very heavy purchases of materials and supplies.

Mercier points out that a large amount of maintenance work not absolutely necessary to safe operation of the railroads at this time has had to be postponed during the war period. Consequently, he adds, after the war there will be need for rehabilitation on a large scale, and this is important to the country.

In announcing new all-time high records for freight and passenger traffic in the first half of 1943, Mercier said:

"This is the first period in which railroad earnings have approached a reasonable return in more than a decade. The level of rates under which traffic is moving is the lowest in history by unit of work performed. For the first five months of 1943, taxes absorbed more than half of the railroads' real net earnings."

More Meat Maybe

Prospects for a more liberal supply of beef are apparent as grass-fat beef are beginning to flow into the Kansas City market. Concern is felt though for the future if the present liquidation of herds continues.

County Youths In Coast Guard Service School

Santa Clara county youths have exhibited a fine spirit and sense of "waiting to get ahead" by qualifying for the variety of Coast Guard service schools available, as represented by John S. Mise, who is enrolled in Seaman-ship school.

The local youth is cited as a splendid example, because of the fine record he made for himself in "boot camp" before qualifying for the intensive and thrilling course he now takes at Alameda where he received his basic drill.

Enlisting while still 17, Mise exemplifies the chance for men of this age who join the Coast Guard and, following basic training, qualify for a service school.

The United States Coast Guard Recruiting Office, 118 Custom House, San Francisco, can be contacted by men of 17 for information on enlisting in this fast growing branch of the armed services.

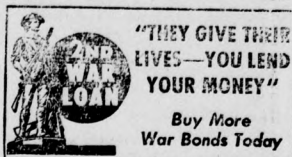

Fresh vegetables, such as carrots, radishes, beets and the like, should be thoroughly cleaned before you refrigerate them, and the stems and leafy portions should be removed. Don't shell peas and lima beans or husk corn until ready to use. Otherwise they'll lose their sweetness and most of their vitamins, home economists say.

Barbara and her brother Warren returned to Campbell with Peggy to take part in the fruit harvest until school starts.

U. S. Watershed The watershed created by mountain ranges or table lands of the Rocky mountains is the continental divide of North America. The easterly waters reach the Atlantic ocean by way of the Gulf of Mexico, and the westerly waters flow into the Pacific ocean through the Columbia and Colorado rivers.

Backfire
Backfiring in an automobile is due to timing

Don't neglect electric light bulbs and reflectors or diffusing fixtures. Conservation is important in these war times, and dust cuts down light making it necessary to use more wattage and cutting down also on the value you get from the current you use. Each week or fortnight, each bulb should be mopped with a damp soapy cloth, then rinsed and wiped thoroughly dry. Make sure lights are switched off before you start mopping.

Motorists May Charge Fares
Massachusetts car owners have gained an added incentive to "share the ride" with issuance of an executive order by Governor Saltonstall which permits private drivers to collect fees for transporting workers to their destinations. Any automobile, of either standard or station-wagon type, carrying no more than seven persons in addition to the driver, may be classified as a "Workman's Livery Automobile," though no special registration is required.

Two tickets to the Campbell theater are awaiting Miss Zaidie Rice. Call within a week at Press office.

LAKE TENDER...

Where Power Starts on High

I AM A LAKE TENDER... guarding water that in a matter of minutes shoots down penstock pipes, to spin the turbines that make the kilowatts that march down power lines to work in war production on the farm, in city and in factory.

My job location is high in the Sierra mountains. Usually the work is just patrolling the shores of a lake and watching the water level at the gauge tower.

Today I keep a sharp vigilance for forest fires, do airplane spotting and make doubly sure that logs and twigs and brush do not move down the lake to the forebay surge chamber and cause a powerhouse turbine to shut down. That must not happen in wartime when electric power generating plants must operate full time.

I know what a shut-down would mean because I can see electricity in use in the valley below. There are lights in farm dwellings, little clusters of lights in the valley towns, bigger clusters of lights in more distant cities.

I know, too, that electric power from the plant below my lake goes down to food packing plants, to shipyards, to factories and to army and navy bases, vital to our victory.

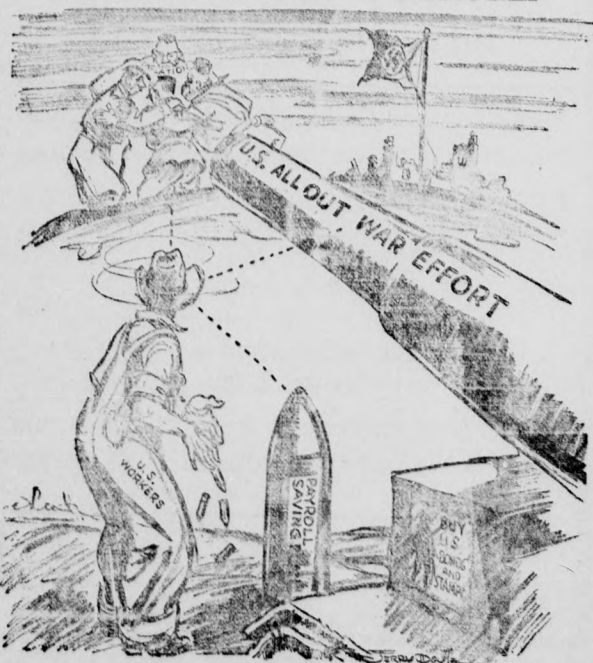

Then I remember the day when some of the young men from the power plant below came up to my forebay to shoot ducks. These young men are shooting down Zeros and Messerschmitts today. I remember, too, when I showed young men where the big fish were in the pools of the mountain streams near here. I know these men are out to get bigger and more dangerous fish today.

These things make me wish I were younger. I would be one of the young men fighting. But I realize I can't. I am going to stick here and try to be the best lake tender in the world. That is how I can best help win the war.
